

UNIVERSITY WRITING PROGRAM
2008-2009 UNIT 18 LECTURER SEARCH

The UC Davis University Writing Program invites applications for full-time Lecturers able to teach a range of writing courses, primarily at the upper-division level. We are especially interested in applicants experienced in teaching writing in the sciences, business and technical writing, legal writing, writing in the health professions, and writing in the academic disciplines. Ph.D. or other appropriate terminal degree required, except in cases where extensive professional experience may be considered the equivalent.

One-year appointments (with possibility of renewal) beginning in the 2009-2010 academic year. Teaching load: 7 courses over 3 quarters. Starting salary: $42,074, with benefits. Number of positions contingent on funding. Lecturers with 18 quarters of teaching in the program will be eligible to apply for rank of Continuing Lecturer.

Please send letter of application, CV, sample course materials, and three letters of recommendation to Christopher Thaiss, Lecturer Search Chair, University Writing Program, University of California, One Shields Avenue, Davis, CA 95616-8581. We will begin reading applications November 17, 2008 and positions will remain open until filled. We will conduct interviews by telephone or, when possible, on the campus.

The successful candidates will join an independent writing program with an established emphasis on writing in the disciplines and professions, as well as a diverse student population. UC Davis has been recognized by U.S. News and World Report for its 'stellar' program of writing in the disciplines. The University Writing Program publishes the journal Writing on the Edge and enjoys the support of Davis's renowned programs in the sciences, environmental studies, agriculture, and engineering, plus close ties with the arts, the humanities, and the School of Education. Located in Northern California's Central Valley, adjacent to Sacramento and within easy driving distance of the Bay Area and the Sierras, UC Davis offers a superb, diverse environment for teaching and research.
